Council sets balanced budget and invests for the future despite increasing cost pressures

Despite the continuing squeeze on council finances as the Government works to reduce the country's deficit, Horsham District Council is once again proposing to keep Council Tax at a level that does not exceed retail price inflation. The Council has the lowest Council Tax levels in West Sussex.

The Council's continuing focus is on new ways to deliver services, looking at returns on investment, resources, expertise and income generation. In particular, this includes making better use of technology, giving residents more modern ways to interact with us.

Local young people to have their say on the future of youth services

Are you a teenager or under 25 years old? Do you care about getting a job, improving mental health, youth clubs, sports groups and other issues?

Working with West Sussex County Council's Integrated Prevention and Early Help (IPEH) team we are encouraging local young people to take part in a public consultation to help shape youth support services across the Horsham District in the future.

Survey closes 30 November 2018.

Young authors to get published with stories about Horsham

Two talented local children were announced as winners of our Townies and Parkies story writing competition earlier this month.

Conor and Nyah's stories are now being made into a book which has been illustrated by local artist Katie Wells, who created the original animal characters.

Find out how you can get a copy of this limited edition book and even get it signed by Katie Wells herself at a special event on Saturday 24 November at Waterstones, Horsham by visiting our website.
